MDL No. 2299

TRANSFER ORDER

Before the Panel: Pursuant to Panel Rule 7.1, plaintiffs in this action (Ward) move to vacate our order conditionally transferring the action to the Western District of Louisiana for inclusion in MDL No. 2299. Responding defendants oppose the motion.<sup>1</sup>

In opposing transfer, the Ward plaintiffs cite their motion for remand to state court, which is currently pending before the Southern District of Indiana court. As we have frequently held, however, the pendency of such a motion is generally not a sufficient reason to warrant vacating a conditional transfer order. Panel Rule 2.1(d) expressly provides that the pendency of a conditional transfer order does not limit the pretrial jurisdiction of the putative transferor court. Between the date a remand motion is filed and the date the Panel finalizes transfer of the action to the MDL, a court wishing to rule upon a remand motion generally has adequate time in which to do so. Plaintiffs can present their pending motion to the transferee judge. See, e.g., In re Ivy, 901 F.2d 7 (2d Cir. 1990); In re Prudential Ins. Co. of America Sales Practices Litig., 170 F. Supp. 2d 1346, 1347-48 (J.P.M.L. 2001).

After considering all argument of counsel, we find that the Ward action involves common questions of fact with actions previously transferred to MDL No. 2299, and that transfer will serve the convenience of the parties and witnesses and promote the just and efficient conduct of the litigation. Moreover, transfer is warranted for the reasons set out in our original order directing centralization. In that order, we held that the Western District of Louisiana was an appropriate Section 1407 forum for actions involving “claims arising from the use of Actos, a prescription medication approved for use in the treatment of type 2 diabetes.” See In re: Actos Prods. Liab. Litig., 840 F. Supp. 2d 1356, 1356 (J.P.M.L. 2011). Plaintiffs in the previously-centralized actions allege that the use of Actos results in “an increased risk of developing bladder cancer,” and that defendants “concealed their knowledge of this risk and failed to provide adequate warnings to consumers and the health care community.” Id. Here, the Ward plaintiffs similarly allege that defendants “concealed and continue to conceal their knowledge of Actos’ unreasonably dangerous risks,” and “failed to adequately inform consumers and the prescribing medical community about the risk of bladder cancer associated with the use of Actos.” Ward Complaint ¶ 2. The action falls squarely within the ambit of MDL No. 2299.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1407, this action is transferred to the Western District of Louisiana and, with the consent of that court, assigned to the Honorable Rebecca F. Doherty for inclusion in the coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings.

TRANSFER ORDER

Before the Panel:* Pursuant to Panel Rule 7.1, plaintiffs in these actions (Buchanan and Bowerman) move to vacate our orders conditionally transferring the actions to MDL No. 2299. Responding defendants oppose the motions.<sup>1</sup>

The Buchanan plaintiff argues the merits of his motion for remand to state court, which has been denied by the Northern District of Alabama court. Plaintiff contends that if that court certifies the remand ruling as final, he will then take an appeal, and the ruling will be reversed. Since plaintiff submitted his brief to the Panel, however, the Northern District of Alabama court denied his request for certification.

The Bowerman plaintiff argues that we should not transfer his action unless and until the Eastern District of Arkansas court denies his motion for remand to state court. Plaintiff further argues that his action is not a personal injury action, and thus unlike a majority of the actions in the MDL. Plaintiff's first argument is moot, as after briefing in this matter closed, the Eastern District of Arkansas court denied remand. Plaintiff's second argument – that he has not brought a personal injury action – is insufficient to warrant vacatur. The complaint in Bowerman plainly alleges that the Takeda and Lilly defendants knew or should have known that Actos use was associated with bladder cancer, failed to issue warnings concerning the risk of bladder cancer from taking Actos, and concealed the risks associated with Actos use. These issues are at the core of the MDL.

After considering all argument of counsel, we find that these two actions involve common questions of fact with actions previously transferred to MDL No. 2299, and that transfer will serve the convenience of the parties and witnesses and promote the just and efficient conduct of the * Judge Kathryn H. Vratil took no part in the decision of this matter.

litigation. Moreover, transfer is warranted for the reasons set out in our original order directing centralization. In that order, we held that the Western District of Louisiana was an appropriate Section 1407 forum for actions involving “claims arising from the use of Actos, a prescription medication approved for use in the treatment of type 2 diabetes.” See In re: Actos Prods. Liab. Litig., — F. Supp. 2d —, 2011 WL 6889721, at *1 (J.P.M.L. Dec. 29, 2011). Plaintiffs in the previously-centralized actions allege that the use of Actos results in “an increased risk of developing bladder cancer,” and that defendants “concealed their knowledge of this risk and failed to provide adequate warnings to consumers and the health care community.” Id. Here, the Buchanan action involves allegations that the plaintiff developed bladder cancer as a result of taking Actos, and, as explained above, the Bowerman action involves allegations that defendants knew or should have known that Actos use was associated with bladder cancer, failed to issue warnings concerning the risk of bladder cancer from taking Actos, and concealed the risks associated with Actos use. Both actions fall squarely within this MDL.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1407, these actions are transferred to the Western District of Louisiana and, with the consent of that court, assigned to the Honorable Rebecca F. Doherty for inclusion in the coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings.

ORDER RENAMING LITIGATION

When this litigation was commenced on August 31, 2011, with the filing of a motion by plaintiffs Glen Weant and Nina Weant for transfer pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1407, the Clerk of the Panel captioned it as IN RE: Actos Products Liability Litigation. In the interest of consistency with the Panel's naming conventions, it is appropriate at this time to rename MDL No. 2299.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that this litigation is renamed as IN RE: Actos (Pioglitazone) Products Liability Litigation

UNITED STATES JUDICIAL PANEL

MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION

IN RE: ACTOS PRODUCTS LIABILITY LITIGATION

MDL No. 2299

TRANSFER ORDER

Judge Rebecca F. Doherty

Before the Panel: Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1407, plaintiffs in a Southern District of Illinois action move for coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings of eleven actions pending in eight districts as listed on Schedule A. Moving plaintiffs seek centralization in the Southern District of Illinois or, in the alternative, the Central District of California. Since the filing of the motion, the parties have notified the Panel of over 100 related actions pending in various federal districts.<sup>1</sup>

All respondents support centralization but disagree upon the appropriate choice for transferee district. Defendants Takeda Pharmaceuticals America, Inc., its related entities,<sup>2</sup> and Eli Lilly and Company suggest centralization in the Northern District of Illinois or, in the alternative, the Western District of Louisiana. Responding plaintiffs suggest centralization, either primarily or in the alternative, in the Northern District of Alabama, the Northern District of Illinois, the Southern District of Illinois, the Eastern District of Louisiana, the Western District of Louisiana, the District of Minnesota, the District of New Jersey, the Eastern District of New York, the Northern District of New York, and the Northern District of Ohio.<sup>3</sup>

On the basis of the papers filed and the hearing session held, we find that these eleven actions involve common questions of fact, and that centralization in the Western District of Louisiana will serve the convenience of the parties and witnesses and promote the just and efficient conduct of this litigation. Each of the actions alleges claims arising from the use of Actos, a prescription medication approved for use in the treatment of type 2 diabetes. Plaintiffs allege that individuals who use Actos face an increased risk of developing bladder cancer. Plaintiffs further allege that the defendants concealed their knowledge of this risk and failed to provide adequate warnings to consumers and the health care community. All

<sup>1</sup> These actions will be treated as potential tag-along actions in accordance with Panel Rules 7.1 and 7.2.

actions were filed in July 2011 or later. Accordingly, we find that centralization will eliminate duplicative discovery, prevent inconsistent pretrial rulings, and conserve the resources of the parties, their counsel and the judiciary.

We are persuaded that the Western District of Louisiana is an appropriate transferee district for this litigation. The allegations in this nationwide litigation do not have a strong connection to any particular district, and related actions are pending in numerous districts across the country. Some plaintiffs support centralization in the Western District of Louisiana, mostly in the alternative, and the defendants also support centralization in this district in the alternative, although they emphasized at oral argument that this district was a distant second choice to their primary suggestion. Notably, centralization in the Western District of Louisiana permits the Panel to assign the litigation to an experienced judge who sits in a district in which no other multidistrict litigation is pending.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1407, the actions listed on Schedule A are transferred to the Western District of Louisiana and, with the consent of that court, assigned to the Honorable Rebecca F. Doherty for coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings in that district.
